1. Why Cardano?

We choose Cardano from a philosophical and technical point of view. Our team supports decentralization and the system where people are allowed to decide for themselves where to put their money. We support the Cardano approach, which prevents the interference of institutions in the decisions of small budget people. Another good reason to choose Cardano blockchain is the Cardano community, which is one of the scientific-oriented, human-friendly and largest active communities in the crypto space.

Nevertheless, the Cardano blockchain with its cheap fees is supporting our vision, in which the people can get as much as possible from our project without having their money eaten by expensive fees.

Last but not least, Cardano blockchain with its proof of stake makes an advanced move toward saving energy and we are strong supporters of saving the planet's resources.

Moreover, we would like to be there for the evolution that the Cardano blockchain takes care of.

2. Vision

Since Cardano is one of the best options for developing our product, the Charly Team puts a lot of trust in Cardano's developing team and of course, in Charles Hoskinson himself. Charles has already done a lot for the development of blockchain technology in the best available scientific way.

When the Cardano blockchain started, it opened the door for smart contracts and opened up a space for people with inspiration and new ideas to help expand the use of the ecosystem itself. One of our main goals is to add our share to the recognition of Cardano as an ecosystem that unites people of different views and cultures all over the world.

3. Who we are?

We are a team that believes in Cardano from the very beginning, and over the years we came up with the idea to contribute something to the recognition of the ecosystem. We come from all different parts of Europe. Charly Token was named primarily after the founder of Cardano, Charles Hoskinson, who is of course a huge motivation for us in the work and development of the project. Considering that Cavalier King Charles is a royal dog, the whole story behind the project is about the royalty of Great Britain and its history. For those of you who don't know their history, we can briefly write that years ago, King Charles II made this dog almost more valuable than the people who lived in Great Britain at that time.

4. What exactly is the Charly token?

Charly came to the Cardano blockchain just to bark, but over the time we met a lot of great people and projects. The idea of remaining just a meme coin didn't seem realistic to us anymore. That's why we went a step further and started developing the idea of how to turn a project that was created purely as a joke into a story that would be heard far away, as we like to say to the planet Othala in Ida Galaxy.

5. Technicals

In addition of being able to buy our Charly tokens for some time, you have the possibility to purchase NFTs of various collections. Charly Hood, Certificates of Charly's Kingdom and recently; the first major collection of Charly's gold rush will come soon. Please note that all NFT's will be used in our kingdom on the Pocket Towne project metaverse, with which you will be able to access certain benefits (more details can be found on the road map).

6. Future plans

Plans of the future are linked to the NFTs called Certificates of Charly's kingdom. These NFTs are aimed at involving the owners into making the decision regarding the future of the project. Namely, NFT owners will get the right to vote for any future development and/or decisions. Our goal is therefore that our project becomes the project of all of us.

In the metaverse, we plan to create and develop game/games using the theme of Charly's dog! More about that will be released on the road map.

We must emphasize that without the help of the community and your contribution as an involved partner in this project, it will be difficult for us to get there. Namely, we do not lack ideas, but the financial support for continuous development, like almost all starting projects. Everyone can buy some of our products and thereby contribute to reaching the final goals together, which are certainly no longer just barking, but also biting, if we use the right jargon.

Tokenomics

As we live in a fairy tale, we thought that using number 7 is more than suitable. Below you can find how we use those numbers in a fine and delicious cake that we bake just for you. You can try it, but only if you join our wolfpack. This should be one of the best on the market.
